Pine Shores Announces Return of Art Exhibits to Tuckerton Borough Hall

TUCKERTON, NJ – After being closed for several months following pandemic restrictions, Tuckerton Borough Hall reopens its Pine Shores Art Association art exhibits while observing safety guidelines. Fifty framed paintings and drawings by 20 artists are now on display in the center hall and courtroom, and original works by Ed Renner are featured in the conference room.

Tuckerton Borough Fine Arts Gallery is located in the municipal building at 420 E Main Street in Tuckerton. Public viewing hours are weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. throughout November and December, except when the building is closed for holidays or other special exceptions. The art is for sale and offers a great opportunity to obtain excellent work from skilled area artists. This is a great stop for finding wonderful one-of-a-kind holiday gifts. A price list is available in center hall. The number of visitors to the building at one time is limited, and masks must be worn, along with visitors following social distancing.

Paintings by Nancy Sterr Lang and Paul Hartelius are attached as examples of work included in the exhibit.

Pine Shores Art Association has been an Ocean County cultural resource presenting year-round fine arts classes, gallery exhibits and community outreach programs for the past 40 years. Large print & other special assistance/accommodations are available if requested two weeks in advance. PSAA received funding this year from a grant administered by the Ocean County Cultural & Heritage Commission from funds granted by the NJ State Arts Council, a division of the Department of State. PSAA is also generously supported the Ocean County Board of Chosen Freeholders, OceanFirst Foundation, TD Bank and the Townships of Stafford, Ocean, Beach Haven and Tuckerton.
